BIO312: Immunology and Pathogenesis

A study of the bacteria pathogenic to humans and the mechanisms of infection and immunity. Methods of isolation, growth, and identification of the pathogens and serology are emphasized. Laboratory.

Credit Hour(s): 4 Prerequisites: BIO212

Department: Biological Sciences

Semester Offered:
Spring (odd)
Recommended:
BIO311 recommended.

1 2023-24 Catalog